Our head chef, Yosita Nongna, was born in Nakhon Ratchasima the third-largest city in Thailand. Nakhon Ratchasima is located in central Thailand, connecting the Bangkok metropolitan area with the Northeastern region known as Isan.

Because of its position as a hub, Nakhon Ratchasima has over time become a cultural hub in Thailand, combining urban and suburban influences, with food taking a prominent place. It was in this area that Yosita grew up and first learned to cook, and its eclectic nature has a strong influence on Yosita's cooking style, which combines the spicy flavours of the Thai south, the sweet notes of Bangkok, with the sour elements of Isan cooking.

As the head chef of our Checkmate restaurant since September 2011, Yosita has created a varied menu of Thai, British and Mediterranean dishes, combining the influences of each cuisine, into her own innovative interpretations.

The À la carte menu is available from 5pm till 10pm and a lunch menu from 12pm till 5pm.

The 8 course Taste menu starts at £30pp, and allows guests to experience all of Checkmate's favourite seasonal dishes, hand-picked and prepared by Chef on the day.
